MUNICH, Germany, May 18, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Lilium N.V. (NASDAQ: LILM) ("Lilium"), developer of the first all-electric vertical take-off and landing ("eVTOL") jet, today announced 37 new patent applications, which have been published by the European Patent Office ("EPO").

These are engineering inventions for the core technology around the Lilium Jet, spanning several domains: Energy, Propulsion, Structures and Interior, Avionics and Custom Electric, with Lilium focusing more than 70% of its patents on Energy and Propulsion.

These patents are part of a batch of 50 patents Lilium filed throughout 2021, with more to come in the next year. The applications published today serve as a testament to our engineers' ingenuity and commitment to pushing the limits of technology and reinforcing Lilium's place at the forefront of eVTOL development. These patent filings move us one step closer to commercialization of the Lilium Jet, but they also stand to strengthen innovation in the aviation industry as a whole, with areas like energy needing constant investment in novel and sustainable systems and technologies."
